

Exporting seed potatoes in a 'no deal' exit from the EU

After the UK leave the EU, the UK Government and Devolved Administrations need to secure 3rd country derogation on plant health controls with the EU and bi-lateral agreements with individual member states for exporting seed potatoes

Importing to the UK from the EU

- Scotland will accept EU seed potatoes.
- Seed potatoes will need a phytosanitary certificate.
- England intends to accept seed potatoes and Common Catalogue varieties for a one year interim period following exit, with Wales and Northern Ireland anticipated to do the same. After this, in the absence of an agreement with the EU, third country rules will apply.