OECD LABELLING REQUIREMENTS

All companies producing or handling seed certified under the OECD Seed Schemes should be aware that all labels should be properly machine printed and have no hand-written information added. There have been recent cases where labels were unacceptable because of doubts about the origin and authenticity of the hand-written information.

This has caused extra work in investigating the authenticity of the seed and delay for those involved with trading the seed.

We are not aware of these issues arising in Scotland however please be aware that this practice is not acceptable on any official labels.
